FOUND WEEK AFTER DEATH

Missing Him a Week Neighbors Broke in the Front Door

Charles Bandhauer, sixty years old who resided on a little farm one mile west of Ivanhoe in Lake county for the last five or six years, was found dead Saturday by neighbors who became suspicious because he had not been seen for several days and broke down the door of the house. Bandhauer's body was frozen stiff, and lying on the floor where he had apparently fallen from his chair.

The inquest was held late Saturday afternoon with the result that a "death from natural causes" verdict was returned by the coroner's jury. It was found that Bandhauer had been suffering of a cancer of the breast but it was impossible to tell, whether his death had resulted from this cause. One thing is certain—death did not result from starvation or from cold as there was plenty of fuel and food in the house.

Coroner J. L. Taylor of Libertyville after making an examination of the body expressed the belief that Bandhauer had been dead at least a week. There is also positive proof that Bandhauer died before the terrific snow storm of a week ago Sunday as there were no prints of his feet in the snow which surrounded the house. This was one of the things which led to his dead body being found.

Richard Dietz, his next door neighbor, was the one who first made the discovery. He had failed to see Bandhauer for several days and he began to grow suspicious. Finally he decided to go over to the Bandhauer house and see if everything was all right. The snow was quite deep about the house and after walking about the premises Dietz was impressed by the fact that there were no foot prints as there would have been had Bandhauer left the house since the big storm of a week ago.

MAG GUFFIN MEN TALK

Next State Senator's Friends are Busy Throughout the District

The many supporters of Attorney Paul Mac Guffin, who will undoubtedly be the next State Senator from the eighth district, are engaged in a campaign, which will they assert, show many reasons why the present incumbent, A. J. Olson—who would cast aside the old custom of no county in the district asking for a second successive term of the Senatorship—should not be nominated.

It is alleged that Olson broke faith with his co-workers in the Senate when he refused to report out of committee, the "Fence Bill" which was known as House Bill 540. The bill was one which would prevent shipping into Illinois, diseased cattle. Stockmen and breeders wanted the bill to become a law. Olson and a few others from the dairy section of the state wanted House Bill 55, which was drawn by Shurtliff and presented by Frank Shepard, of Kane County passed. This was the Anti-Tuberculin test bill. In order to get bill 55 passed, the senators and representatives from the dairy district surrounding Chicago, promised to vote for House Bill 540, and they would have done so had not Olson killed it in his committee. The claim is made that Olson's usefulness in the Senate was positively killed by his action in the above legislation.

Another strong argument against Olson, is that he voted for every Deep Waterway bill presented, and the tax payers of Lake County would have had $215,000.00 added to their tax burdens if Olson had had his way about it. The voters who are just now paying taxes are much displeased with the action of the man who would have placed an additional load upon them. Lake County could never have received any benefit from a deep waterway down the Illinois river, and no one will ever be able to explain why this county should contribute almost a quarter of a million dollars to the digging of a channel through the cornfields of Illinois.

There are many other pieces of legislation in which Olson was interested which do not prove popular and there are a lot of people ready to explain about them.

Mac Guffin is a clean honest man and has nothing to condemn him and many things to commend him. He and his friends feel sure of success.

Rich Find of Old Silver Coins.
More than 2,000 silver coins have been found in a field near Ribe, the oldest town in the west coast of Jutland, in Denmark. The coins are of the "short-cross" type, issued in England under Henry II, Richard I, John, and Henry III, but always bearing the name of Henry, and chiefly of the mints of London, Canterbury and Winchester.

BOYS FIND BURGLARS IN HOME

In The Mixup The Youths Gain Possession of a New Hat and Gun

ESCAPE THROUGH WINDOW

In the Absence of the Family the House Was Ransacked From Garret To Cellar

When the two sons of Henry Osterberg, 108 Lenox avenue, Waukegan entered the front door of their home, at 7:10 p. m. Sunday evening, they were confronted by two well-dressed young men, one of whom leveled a revolver at them with the stern command:

"Hold up your hands!"

Although startled by the unexpected reception in their own home, one of the Osterberg boys, instead of complying with the command, crouched down and lunging forward landed a telling blow in the pit of the stomach of the man who did not have a gun. Simultaneously, the other brother, taking advantage of the momentary glance that the armed burglar cast in the direction of his companion, when the attack was made, leaped forward and succeeded in wresting the gun from his hand.

The first robber who had been knocked down, leaped to his feet and darted through the door, followed by the man who had pointed the gun. The latter had lost his hat, and also his gun in the struggle. The police are using these clues and hope to be able to locate the fellows as a result of them.

After darting out of the house one of the robbers ran south on Lenox avenue toward the woods, while the other ran west on May street.

The Osterberg boys got a pretty good description of the fellows and they say that they would be able to recognize them again if the opportunity should present itself. One of the men is described as being rather tall, while the other was considerably shorter. The taller was of a slim build while the other was a little stouter. The shorter man who had the gun, is described as being the older of the two, appearing to be about thirty-five or forty years old. Both men wore gray overcoats.

The hat which the armed robber lost was an imported English gray hat of felt, costing probably about $5.00. It was purchased at one of the stores conducted by Arthur Feilchenfeld of Chicago. The gun which he carried was a .38 calibre A. J. Aubrey XXX.

An investigation of the house revealed the fact that the robbers apparently had completed their search and were ready to depart when the arrival of the two young men upset their plans. They got away with a gold watch and a gold ring.

The police were notified at once last night and were on the scene a few minutes later. An extensive search was made, but no one answering the description of the two bold robbers could be located. The only hope of getting them now appears to be through the hat which one of them lost or by means of the gun. The hat clue is considered by far the better of the two.

The Osterberg boys are given great credit for the fearlessness they displayed in attacking and routing the burglar, even when they were covered by a revolver. The robbers apparently did not expect the attack and were taken off their guard somewhat.

Special House for "High Brow" Apes.

The "high brow" apes in the New York Zoological park are to have a house to themselves in the near future. The board of estimate and apportionment will soon be asked for an appropriation necessary to cover the expenses for such a structure. At present the erudite chimpanzees and orangutangs are in the house with their less intelligent sisters and brothers.

The intelligent specimens now number four chimpanzees and five orangutangs. Baldy is the leader of the social elect, and Susie, recently sold to the society by Professor Garner, is another inmate who stands aloof. The proposed structure is necessary to the continued health of the valuable specimens, as well as to give proper facilities for their exhibition to the public.

NEW AGITATION IS RAISED

County Treasurer Westerfield Launches New Movement

As a result of the movement launched by County Treasurer Carl P. Westerfield at the convention of county treasurers of the state at Decatur, on Feb. 28-9, a supreme effort is to be made by the county treasurers all over the state to get the legislature to repeal the law making it impossible for county treasurers to succeed themselves. Mr. Westerfield made a spirited address to the convention in which he said he thought it was obviously unfair that other county officials can succeed themselves, as many times as they can get the people to elect them while a county treasurer cannot hold two successive terms.

The suggestion met with instant favor and several other county treasurers were upon their feet in a moment endorsing the plan suggested by Mr. Westerfield. As a result of the general discussion which followed it was decided to have a legislative committee appointed by the secretary of the association and take immediate action toward having the present law repealed.

The law at the present time applies not only to county treasurers but to sheriffs as well. Neither of these officers is allowed to succeed himself.

Mr. Westerfield when asked about the matter declared that he has learned that the law with regard to these two officers was passed a number of years ago after several graft scandals had been uncovered.

He said the matter was taken up with the state legislature, it being pointed out that by making it impossible for a county treasurer to succeed himself that it would not be possible for him to hide possible defalcations for a number of years. With regard to the sheriff matter, he said that there are counties in which the sheriff acts as tax collector and has to handle much money. Thus the same argument would apply in his case as in the case of the county treasurer.

Mr. Westerfield says that while the law might have served a good purpose when it was passed that it is unjust now. He says that it is not fair to allow a county clerk or a county recorder, or any other of the county officers to succeed themselves just as many times as they can and make it impossible for a county treasurer or a sheriff to do the same thing. He thinks that if the state association of county treasurers succeeds in getting the legislature to pass a new law and repeal the old law that it will apply to sheriffs as well as county treasurers.

DEATH OF G. HANNEMAN OF LIBERTY

On Saturday of last week, Mr. Gottfried Hanneman passed away at his home near Liberty Corners, after an illness that had extended over a period of three years, although he was confined to his bed for only a week previous to his death, the cause of which was diabetes.

The deceased was born in Barnskun, Germany in 1836, and came to America in the month of April 1872 locating first at Genoa Junction, but remaining there for only a short time before making his home near Channel Lake. In the year of 1895 he was united in marriage to Mrs. Augusta Hanneman and they then purchased a farm near Liberty Corners and he lived there until his death.

He is survived by his widow and seven step children besides a number of other relatives. The funeral was held at the home Wednesday, Rev. Voss having charge, with interment at the Wilmet cemetery.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were his brother-in-law August Luke of Painsville, Minn., and his two step daughters, Mrs. John Nehring also of Painsville, Minn., and Mrs. Mathens of Kenosha, and also a number of friends from Chicago.

Staining Glass.

The art of colored glass has been lost and refound, guarded and stolen so many times during the history of civilization that it seems almost impossible to say anything new on glass staining. Yet a process has been discovered for making the stained glass used in windows which is a departure from anything known to the old timers.

The glass first receives its design in mineral colors, and the whole is then fired in a heat so intense that the coloring matter and the glass are indissolubly fused. The most attractive feature of this method is that the surface acquires a peculiar pebbled character in the heat, so that when the glass is in place the lights are beautifully soft and mellow.

PETITION BEFORE BOARD

Supervisors Will Investigate and Render Decision at Next Session

EXPECT COUNTER PETITION

A Claim is Made That This Secession Will Not Leave the Required Number of Voters in Grant

The Supervisors today considered the petition from Lake Villa residents in which they ask for the creation of a new township to be called Lake Villa. The petition, said to contain 95 per cent of the residents of the district affected, was referred to this committee to investigate and report at the next session of the board: Meyer, Conrad and Welsh.

The men favoring the plan, headed by Attorney Claire Edwards, appeared before the board and argued that the prayer be granted. Among those who spoke besides Mr. Edwards were: President Hamlin of Lake Villa, F. T. Fowler, Charles Haarbuer, Mr. Avery and Harry Lowry.

All urged the new town on the claim that a large majority of the residents affected favor it; as a means for improving the roads and general conditions, as a means of making it unnecessary for voters to travel several miles to Antioch or Avon to vote. All disclaimed any ulterior motive back of the plan.

The opposition will present a remonstrance tomorrow morning in which it is said they have a counter petition which bears many signatures of persons who signed the first petition asking for the new town.

One claim is that the prayer will fail because the law says that the town created must have 200 voters and must leave 200 voters in the towns from which they seceded. It is said this is complied with, with the exception of Grant, where, it is said, about 180 voters would be left.

BORN, LIVED AND DIED ON FARM AT LAMB'S CORNERS

Taps sounded for the life of Nahum Lamb, 70 years of age, Friday morning at 7 o'clock, and the sound of the last trumpet rounded out a life of seventy years spent entirely within the confines of Lake county, and in fact on one farm.

Nahum Lamb was without a doubt one of the best known men in Lake county. He was born seventy years ago on the farm at the cross roads, known as Lamb's corners, in Warren township, just west of Gurnee. His father had obtained the farm by a grant from the government, and there reared his family.

Upon the death of his father, many years ago, Nahum Lamb took charge of the farm, and with the exception of the three years spent in the army during the civil war, has lived constantly on the place.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Ney. He was a veteran of the civil war, a member of the famous 96th Illinois regiment. At the battle of Reseka, Ga., he was shot in the hand and later sustained a loss of that member.

Death was caused by a cancer of the stomach. The funeral was held Monday at 1 o'clock from the home. Burial was made in the Warren cemetery. The Grand Army of the Republic attended the funeral in a body.

Yellow Jackets Held Steeply.

A contractor and three carpenters were painfully stung when they climbed to the top of the First Baptist church, in New Castle, Del., recently, to make repairs to the roofs. Thousands of yellow jackets had made their home in the belfry, and they resented the intrusion and drove the men to the ground. One of the men made his way to the belfry and with tar paper closed all exits by which the insects could escape. Then he placed four sulphur candles under the cupola and lighted them. After the candles had burned out enough dead insects were found to fill a peach basket to overflowing, and the carpenters then resumed work on the church roof.

AUTO ROUTE IN COUNTY

Will Take in the Villages of Russell Gurnee and Half Day

According to the decision arrived at, at a meeting of the Chicago-Milwaukee automobile road promoters, the western road, the Kilbourne route, will be taken by the autoists from Chicago to Milwaukee, and Waukegan will be left out of the route entirely.

A meeting of the commissioners was held in Milwaukee Thursday, and the decision to take the western route was adopted at that meeting. The route lies through the villages of Gurnee, Russell, Half Day, Libertyville, Wheeling and Niles Center, connecting with Milwaukee avenue in Chicago.

The chairman of the good roads committee of the Chicago Auto club, Allen S. Ray, was present at the meeting and aided in sending the proposed road to the west. The lake shore cities, while they are entirely out of the route, may be easily reached by cross roads and these roads leading into the larger cities will also be improved under the management of the route.

Part of the route will be improved during the coming summer, and the work will be rushed as rapidly as possible. A barbecue has been planned to take place at Russell, where the road crosses the state line, on the day the route is officially declared open.

Sign boards will be placed along the route, to direct the autoists on the way. At the cross road other signs will be erected, telling what cities they lead to. Slight changes in the route may be made, but in the main the route will lie as mapped out.

MRS. LEWIS BOCK DIES SUDDENLY IN CHICAGO

The many friends of Mrs. Lewis Bock of Channah were much surprised when word was received here telling of her sudden death which occurred at the home of her daughter in Chicago on Saturday last. She had appeared to be in her usual good health and her death coming in so sudden a manner was a severe shock to her family and friends, and was caused by a weakened condition of the heart due to advancing years.

Her maiden name was Wilhelmina Eichhoff and she was born in Germany in 1836 coming to America when nine years of age and settling in Rockland, Co., N. Y. After her marriage to Lewis Bock they settled in Chicago, and a number of years later moved to a farm near Lake Villa, remaining there about four years and then again returning to the city. For a number of years her summers were spent at Lake Catherine and for the past six years that place has been her permanent home.

She is survived by six children, Frank and Herman of Antioch, Mrs. Wm. Heal of Tamora, Neb., Mrs. Jessie Severin and Mrs. Emma Loehns, of Chicago and Mrs. H. Kirnie of Barrington.

MRS. MARY GARRETT PASSED AWAY AT WESLEY HOSPITAL

On Thursday evening of last week, Feb. 29, at the Wesley hospital in Chicago occurred the death of Mrs. Mary Garrett of Channah at the age of twenty-eight years, four months and fourteen days.

Mary Blair was born in Antioch, Oct. 15, 1883 and was the daughter of John W. and Ella Blair. Here she grew to womanhood surrounding herself with a countless number of friends, drawn to her by her bright and sunny disposition.

On the twenty-first day of March, 1909 she was united in marriage to Douglass Garrett who with their two small children, June Irene, born June 28, 1910 and the baby boy, born Feb. 4, 1912, are left to mourn the loss of the one most dear to them all. She is also survived by her mother and father, two brothers, William and Ira, besides many other relatives.

The remains were taken on the St. Paul road to Solon and there the funeral was held in the M. E. church at one o'clock Monday afternoon with Rev. Stikrud of Antioch officiating.

Swimmers the Prey of Eels.

A remarkable story of the seizure of swimmers by eels comes from New Zealand. A stream in New Zealand was a favorite bathing place because the current was swift and strong. Time after time the bather would begin to shriek and splash on the surface, would disappear before help could reach him, and when his body had been found it had invariably been eaten by eels. The cause of the fatality remained shrouded in mystery for a long time, but at length the true cause was discovered that whilst the swimmer was almost stationary in the rapid stream a huge eel would seize him by the foot or leg and drag him down beneath the surface.

HOLD UPS GET SUM OF $150.

Robbery Occurred When Woman Bartender Was Alone In Saloon

POLICE FOUND NO CLEW

Robbery Committed in Broad Daylight At the Point of a Revolver Leveled at Defenseless Woman.

One of the boldest daylight robberies that ever has been perpetrated in Waukegan, took place Saturday morning at 10 o'clock when two men, at the point of a gun, held up and robbed the saloon of Stanley Krywicki, 622 Market street. They got away with $150 which Krywicki had kept on hand to cash checks in case any should be presented. The men fled in the direction of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad tracks and all efforts on the part of the police to get any trace of them has been futile up to the present time.

Good fortune seemed to smile upon the bold robbers for their daring hold up occurred at a time when there were no customers in the place and when Krywicki's wife was tending bar in the absence of her husband.

When the two men entered the place Mrs. Krywicki was standing behind the bar. The fellows glanced about the room and saw that there were no other occupants. Without further ceremony one of the men slipped his hand into his overcoat pocket. When it was withdrawn it gripped a gun which was pointed at the now thoroughly frightened woman.

"Hold up your hands," was the stern command.

The woman trembling obeyed. "Give us your money," was the next command.

The woman speaks very little English, but she managed in telling the robber that she had no money—that there was none in the place.

"We'll see about that," said the fellow and while his companion continued to point the gun at the woman's head, he stepped behind the bar and pulling open a drawer removed a roll of bills containing $150. It was in this act that the robber showed some familiarity with the place, as he paid little attention to the cash register which stood nearby, walking directly to the drawer where Krywicki always keeps his large sums of money. The roll of bills was stuffed in his pocket and the two men then opened the door and hurried across the street. The woman looking through the window, saw them disappear between some freight cars. A few moments later her husband appeared on the scene and when informed of the robbery hastily called the police.

A search was made of the railroad yards, including the inside of several box cars, but no trace was secured of any men who answered the meager description given by the woman. No one apparently had seen the men make their escape.

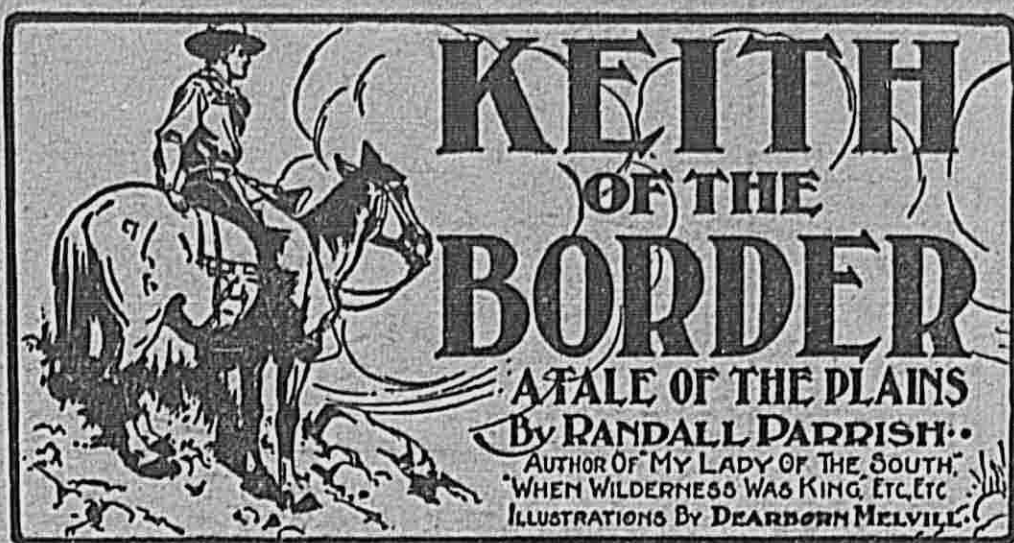

The only theory that seems reasonable is that the men boarded a freight train and made their way out of the city as fast as possible. It is possible also that the men had just arrived on a train and thought that they would pick up some easy money before leaving town.

Krywicki thought that perhaps the fellows might make an attempt to hold up other saloons in the same manner and telephoned to several saloons on Market street, warning them to be on their guard and to hold any men who answered the description of the fellows who had entered his place.

On any other day but Saturday Krywicki would have had but a small amount of money in the cash drawer, so early in the morning, but on Saturday he often is called upon to cash pay checks and he left the money in the drawer for that purpose.

For Good or for Evil?

So surely as the day and the night alternately follow one another, does every day when it yields to darkness, and every night when it passes into dawn, bear with it its own tale of the results which it has silently wrought upon each of us, for good or for evil. —William Ewart Gladstone.

LAND OF RUBBER

Valley of the Amazon Produces Best in the World.

Industry, Now One of the Greatest, Practically Dates Back to 1823, Though Product First Came Here in 1800.

The best rubber in the world comes from the valley of the Amazon, and is known as Para, so called after the city which is the principal gateway of export. This region is densely forested and intersected by a myriad of rivers. It has a soil of incomparable richness, is watered by never-falling rains and warmed by the equatorial sun. The first cost of crude rubber is about 75 cents a pound. By the time it reaches the world's markets it is worth about $2.50 a pound. In Brazil it is called "black gold." Then there are the lower grades of rubber. That which comes from the far east costs on the average about 25 cents a pound and sells for $1.75 a pound. Of late years a great deal of this low grade rubber has come from the guayule plant, a shrub which grows in the desert uplands of Mexico. Its thick bark contains about 10 per cent. of rubber. Certain German and American after many experiments, have perfected machinery to extract this rubber gum, and have succeeded in adding about 22,000,000 pounds to the world's product of crude rubber.

There are ten "rubber trusts" in the world. Five of them are in the United States, three in Germany, one in Russia and one in Italy. They represent amalgamations of some fifty of the rubber factories of the world. There are still about 450 that are not amalgamated.

India rubber first came to the United States in 1800, but although a patent is recorded as early as 1813 for making an elastic varnish out of the strange new product, nothing seems to have come of it until 1823, when a Boston sea captain brought back with him from South America a pair of fantastically gilded rubber boots. On his next voyage he returned with more, which he sold at $5 a pair. It was not until Charles Goodyear discovered how to vulcanize rubber that the rubber industry amounted to anything.

The impression that a visitor to a rubber goods factory carries away with him is one of a lot of rollers that seem to be doing nothing but tearing to pieces and rolling up into shape, over and over again, the rubber as it develops from its crude to its final composition. Some rollers are cold, some are hot; some are wet, some are dry; some fitted with calendars that impress a pattern on the finished sheets, and others seem little more than laundry machines. Crude rubber has to be cleaned. It is softened in boiling water for an hour or so and then run between two rolls, one of which revolves a little faster than the other. Over both of these there plays a steady stream of water.

The rubber comes out in long, flat sheets and is carried into drying rooms, where the air is kept in constant motion by fans. Every bit of moisture must be removed, and this takes sometimes as much as two weeks. When thoroughly dried the rough sheets go to other machines from which they emerge soft and smooth. After having been thoroughly rolled the rubber is compounded with various ingredients, litharge and whitening being the two commonest. Then it is sent under still other rollers and kneaded and worked together into a homogeneous mass. If the rubber is combined with a textile fabric the rubber and cotton cloth go through another series of rollers, entering separately, but coming out as one.

Wolves Startle Town.

Palmyra, Mo.—Armed men and snapping dogs pursued a large gray wolf through the streets the other day. After a long chase the animal was shot and killed by Louis Nelson, deputy game warden, where it stood at bay in front of a hedge row. The wolf was captured when it was a cub with six others, in the Salt river hills of Ralls county. County Assessor Milton Phillips took it home. When it grew older it killed all the cats on Phillips' farm. He then turned it over to a Palmyra resident. Yesterday the wolf broke its chain and ran out on the street. It was pursued to the open country. Nelson claimed the $5 bounty paid by the state for pelts.

Test for Water.

To test drinking water, put one teaspoonful of granulated sugar in a pint of the water you want to test. Cork tightly, place on the kitchen mantel shelf. If pure the water will remain clear, if not it will cloud densely, and ought to be analyzed.

A WOMAN DOCTOR

Was Quick to See That Coffee Poison Was Doing the Mischief.

A lady tells of a bad case of coffee poisoning, and tells it in a way so simple and straightforward that literary skill could not improve it.

"I had neuralgic headaches for 12 years," she says, "and have suffered untold agony. When I first began to have them I weighed 140 pounds, but they brought me down to 110.

"I went to many doctors and they gave me only temporary relief. So I suffered on, till one day, a woman doctor advised me to drink Postum. She said I looked like I was coffee poisoned.

"So I began to drink Postum, and gained 15 pounds in the first few weeks and am still gaining, but not so fast as at first. My headaches began to leave me after I had used Postum about two weeks—long enough, I expect, to get the coffee poison out of my system.

"Now that a few months have passed since I began to use Postum, I can gladly say that I never know what a neuralgic headache is like any more, and it was nothing but Postum that relieved me.

"Before I used Postum I never went out alone; I would get bewildered and would not know which way to turn. Now I go alone and my head is as clear as a bell. My brain and nerves are stronger than they have been for years." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pgs.

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Keith, a Virginian, now a border plainsman, is looking for roaming war parties of savages. He sees a wagon team at full gallop pursued by men on ponies. When Keith reaches the wagon the raiders have massacred two men and departed. He searches the victims finding papers and a locket with a woman's portrait. Keith, at Carson City, is charged with the murder, his accuser being a ruffian named Black Bart. A negro companion in his cell name of Ned tells him that he knew the Keiths in Virginia. Ned says one of the murdered men was John Sibley, the other a brother of the former, a Confederate officer. The plainsman and Ned escape, and later the fugitives come upon a cabin and find its occupant to be a young girl, whom Keith thinks he saw at Carson City. The girl explains that she is in search of a brother, who had deserted from the army, and that a cabin while he sought her brother. Hawley appears, and Keith in hiding recognizes him as Black Bart. There is a terrific battle in the darkened room in which Keith is victor. Horses are appropriated, and the girl who says that her name is Hope, joins in the escape. Keith explains his situation and the fugitives make for Fort Larned, where the girl is left with the hotel landlady. Miss Hope tells that she is the daughter of General Walte. Keith and Ned drift into Sheridan, where Keith meets an old friend, Dr. Fairbain. Keith meets the brother of Hope Walte, under the assumed name of Fred Willoughby, and becomes convinced that Black Bart has some plot involving the two. Hope learns that Gen. Walte was thought murdered, is at Sheridan, and goes there, where she is mistaken for Christine MacLaire, the Carson City singer. Keith meets the real Christine MacLaire and finds that there is a mystery in her life, which he is going to turn to her advantage. The plainsman tells Hope Walte of her resemblance to Christine MacLaire. They decide that Fred Willoughby may hold the key to the situation. Keith finds Willoughby shot dead. Hope is told of the death of her brother. Keith falls to learn what representations Black Bart has made to Christine MacLaire. He suggests that in order to learn the secret she must briefly impersonate the stage singer. Dr. Fairbain is in love with Christine MacLaire and Keith induces him to detain her from the stage while Hope goes to the theater where she meets Black Bart, who, thus deceived, tells Hope that General Walte has suspected his plans and that they must act. Hope greatly alarmed, denurs. General Walte appears and says Black Bart has stolen papers from him regarding an inheritance. Keith is informed that Christine MacLaire's real name is Phyllis Gale and that she is the half sister of Hope. The latter has been carried away by Black Bart and his gang. Dr. Fairbain avows his love for Phyllis and she accepts him. Keith and his friends strike the trail of Black Bart.

CHAPTER XXXIII.—(Continued.)

By this time Keith had reached a definite decision as to his course. If the fugitives received a fresh relay of horses down there somewhere, and crossed the Arkansas, he felt positively sure as to their destination. But it would be useless pushing on after them in the present shape of his party—their horses worn out, and Walte reeling giddily in the saddle. If Hawley's outfit crossed the upper ford, toward which they were evidently heading, and struck through the sand hills, then they were making for the refuge of that lone cabin on Salt Fork. Should this prove true, then it was probable the gambler had not even yet discovered the identity of Hope, for if he had, he would scarcely venture upon taking her there, knowing that Keith would naturally suspect the spot. But Keith would not be likely to personally take up the trail in search for Christine MacLaire. It must have been Hawley then who had left the party and ridden east, and up to that time he had not found out his mistake. Yet if he brought out the fresh animals the chances were that Hope's identity would be revealed. Bristoe, who had turned aside to examine the straying horse, came trotting up.

"Belonged to their outfit all right, Cap," he reported, "carries the double cross brand and that shebang is upon the Smokey; saddle galls still bleeding."

Walte was now suffering so acutely they were obliged to halt before gaining sight of the river, finding, fortunately, a water-hole fed by a spring. As soon as the sick man could be made comfortable, Keith gave to the others his conclusions, and listened to what they had to say. Bristoe favored clinging to the trail, even though they must travel slowly, but Fairbain insisted that Walte must be taken to some town where he could be given necessary care. Keith finally decided the matter.

"None can be more anxious to reach those fellows than I am," he declared, "but I know that country out south, and we'll never get through to the Salt Fork without fresh horses. Besides, as the doctor says, we've got to take care of Walte. If we find things as I expect we'll ride for Carson City, and re-outfit there. What's more, we won't lost much time—it's a shorter ride from there to the cabin than from here."

By morning the General was able to sit his saddle again, and leaving him with Ned to follow slowly, the others spurred forward, discovered an outlet through the bluff into the valley, and crossed the Santa Fe Trail. It was not easy to discover where those in advance had passed this point, but they found evidence of a late camp in a little grove of cottonwoods beside the river. There were traces of two trails leading to the spot, one being that of the same five horses they had been following so long, the other not so easily read, as it had been traversed in both directions, the different hoof marks overlapping each other.

Bristoe, creeping about on hands and knees, studied the signs with the eyes of an Indian.

"You kin see the difference yere whar the ground is soft, Cap," he said, pointing to some tracks plainer than the others. "This yere hoss had a rider, but the rest of 'em was led, the's why they've bungled up the trail so. An' it wa'n't the same bunch that went back east what come from thar—see the split hoof! thar ain't no split hoof p'intin' ther other way—but yere is the mark of the critter that puts her foot down so far outside ther we've been a trailin' from Sheridan, an' she's p'intin' east, an' bein' led. Now, let's see whar the bunch went from yere with that split hoof."

This was not so easily accomplished owing to the nature of the ground, but at last the searchers stumbled onto tracks close in under the bank, and one of these revealed the split hoof.

"That makes it clear, Ben," exclaimed Keith, decidedly, staring out across the river at the white sandhills. "They have kept on the edge of the water, making for the ford, which is yonder at the bend. They are out in the sand desert by this time riding for the Salt Fork. Whoever he was, the fellow brought them five horses, and the five old ones were taken east again on the trail. The girl is still with the party, and we'll go into Carson City and recruit."

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Again at the Cabin.

They were two weary days reaching Carson City, traveling along the open trail yet meeting with no one, not even a mail coach passing them.

The Four Crossed the Stream, Wading to Their Walste in the Water.

Evidently the Indians were so troublesome as to interrupt all traffic with Santa Fe and the more western forts. The slowness of their progress was on account of the General, whose condition became worse in spite of Fairbain's assiduous attentions. With no medicine the doctor could do but little to relieve the sufferings of the older man, although he declared that his illness was not a serious one, and would yield quickly to proper medical treatment. They constructed a rude travois from limbs of the cottonwood, and securely strapped him thereon, one man leading the horse, while the doctor tramped behind.

Keith, fretting more and more over this necessary delay, and now obsessed with the thought that Hawley must have rejoined his party on the Arkansas and gone south with them, finally broke away from the others and rode ahead, to gather together the necessary horses and supplies in advance of their arrival. He could not drive from his mind the remembrance of the gambler's attempted familiarity with Hope, when he had her, as he then supposed, safe in his power once before in that lonely cabin on the Salt fork. Now, angry with baffled ambition, and a victim of her trickery, there was no guessing to what extremes the desperado might resort. The possibilities of such a situation made the slightest delay in rescue an agony almost unbearable. Reaching Carson City, and perfectly reckless as before, the plainsman lost no time in perfecting arrangements for pushing forward. Horses and provisions were procured, and he very fortunately discovered in town two cowboys belonging to the "Bar X" outfit, their work there accomplished and about ready to return to the ranch on the Canadian, who gladly allied themselves with his party, looking forward to the possibilities of a fight with keen anticipation. Keith was more than ever delighted with adding these to his outfit, when, on the final arrival of the others, the extra man brought from Sheridan announced that he had had enough, and was going to remain there. No efforts made revealed any knowledge of Hawley's presence in Carson City; either he had not been there, or else his friends were very carefully concealing the fact. The utter absence of any trace, however, led Keith to believe that the gambler had gone elsewhere—probably to Fort Larned—for his new outfit, and this belief left him more fully convinced than ever of the fellow's efforts to conceal his trail.

The party escorting Walte reached the town in the evening, and in the following gray dawn the adventurers forded the river, and mounted on fresh horses and fully equipped, headed forth into the sand hills. The little company now consisted of Keith, Fairbain, who, in spite of his rotundity of form, had proven himself hard and fit, Ned, having charge of the single pack-horse, the scout Bristoe, and the two cowboys of the "Bar X," rough, wiry fellows, accustomed to exposure and peril. It was emphatically a fighting outfit, and to be trusted in emergency. They followed the cattle trail south toward the Salt Fork, as this course would afford them a camp at the only water-hole in all that wide desert lying between. With this certainty of water, they ventured to press their animals to swifter pace, although the sand made traveling heavy, and the trail itself was scarcely discernible. It was a hard, wearisome ride, hour after hour, through the same dull, dreary landscape of desolation, the hot, remorseless sun beating down upon them, reflecting up into their blistered faces from the hot surface of sand. There was scarcely a breath of air, and the bodies of men and horses were bathed in perspiration. Not a cloud hung in the blue sky; no wing of a bird broke the monotony of distance, no living animal crept across the blazing surface of the desert. Occasionally a distant mirage attracted the eye, making the dead reality even

Our Position Commended

In taking a strong stand on any question affecting the people of as large a territory as the Eighth Senatorial District, a newspaper naturally expects opposition to its views.

The above expectation has been, for this paper, most happily unrealized in the flood of commendation, without opposition, following our unannouncement of last week, that we favor the election of Paul MacGuffin for State Senator.

It is a source of pleasure to the editor of this publication to know that its readers are of the opinion that Lake county is, in all fairness, entitled to the Senatorship.

We had carefully studied the situation as it pertains to the people and examined closely into the qualifications and records of the candidates before assuming a position for or against either of them.

Our judgment has been ratified in that a great many persons have commended us for the manner in which we have placed before our readers the candidacy of Lake county's candidate.

MacGuffin is a hard hitter. He talks on any subject in a decisive and aggressive manner, and is of a good old Scotch lineage which bodies ill for those who attempt to oppose, corrupt, coerce or bribe him.

He very strongly refuses to enter into any "deal" with or for any candidates for other offices, makes no idle promises, and will, if elected, go to Springfield free from any alignments which would prevent him from giving the people to whom he would owe his election, fair, honest and efficient service. We advise readers of this article to meet MacGuffin, hear him define his position on all questions of public policy, and then vote for the Lake county man, whose interests are identified with your own.

Farmers Flock to Small

The campaign being conducted by Len Small, the farmer candidate for Governor of Illinois, is arousing the people of the state as never before since the time of Lincoln.

In his appeal to the voters he urges them to stand up and assert their Republicanism, warning them against the fallacies of Socialism which a new being preached throughout the state by demagogues and so-called Republicans.

His denunciation of Gov. Deneen's extravagant administration is meeting with hearty support from his audiences wherever he has spoken, and scores of farmers and business men have waited till after the meetings to assure him of their support.

We voice the sentiment of a large class of people of Lake county who are going to give him their support, because they are opposed to Gov. Deneen and his administration and the increased taxation he has imposed upon the people of the state.

We urge the voters of Lake county to stand by the farmer candidate for Governor that we may have an economical administration for the next four years.

George W. Paullin, who seeks the nomination for Congressman from this district, is a business man in the city of Chicago and a member of the Sanitary board, and is considered a safe man to vote for.

Secretary of War Stimson said after a recent visit at the Oyster Bay home of Colonel Roosevelt: "I have never believed that the Colonel would be a candidate against Mr. Taft, and I now find no reason to change my mind."

We are informed that Senator A. J. Olson says that in case he can not secure the necessary appropriation for a fish hatchery for Lake county, he will donate the money himself—$25,000. We wonder if he would really do this for dear Lake county?

George Edmund Foss is now sending out from Washington, with his compliments, the yearly blue book, which is further evidence that he desires to build up his fallen fences in Lake county.

Gov. Deneen has thirty-six "Rabbit Shepherds" in the city of Chicago to protect "one lone pigeon."

Gov. Deneen in his campaign tour throughout the state uses a special train. We wonder if that $25,000 appropriated by the legislature to prosecute the Illinois Central railroad is paying the bill?

Only a few of the people who are not satisfied with the world are doing anything to make it better.

SMALL ASKS

FOR A FAIR AND SQUARE DEAL

Len Small, Republican candidate for governor, last week Wednesday afternoon filed a petition for an injunction in the Sangamon county circuit court, to restrain James A. Rose, secretary of state, from certifying to the county clerks of the state, the Republican state ticket with the name of any candidate for governor first except that of the petitioner.

The injunction suit is directed also at Charles S. Deneen, John E. W. Wayman, Charles F. Hurburgh, Walter Clyde Jones and John J. Brown, all of whom have filed their petitions as candidates for the Republican nomination for governor. The application for the injunction will be heard Monday in the circuit court.

For 40 days previous to filing day, Feb. 9, Mr. Small had watchers at the door of the secretary of state's office and on the date of filing, R. M. Sullivan walked into the office of the secretary of state at 7:31 o'clock a. m., and laid Mr. Small's petition on the desk of Harrington Clananahan, the chief clerk, with an announcement of what it was and was informed that it was the first petition received in the office. Subsequently Mr. Rose announced that Chas. S. Deneen, the present incumbent, had filed first, the order and time of filing being as follows:

Deneen, 8:35 a. m.; Small, 9:20 a. m.; Wayman, 9:41 a. m.; Hurburgh, 9:45 a. m.; Brown, 11:29 a. m.; Jones, 11:42 a. m.

Roy M. Seeley, filed the petition for the injunction as representative of Alder & Lederer of Chicago, attorneys for Mr. Small.

If the petition is granted, a probe into the manner of filing petitions will be made.

All Mr. Small wants is a square deal, and satisfied an attempt is being made to deny this to him, his only recourse is at law that the evidence may be given to the people in order that all fair-minded men may see the extent to which certain men, controlled by the present governor, will go in their efforts to enhance his interests, regardless of anything and everything.

To the Republican Voters of the Eighth Senatorial District

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the House of Representatives of the next General Assembly, subject to the Republican primary to be held April 9, 1912.

I had intended not to be a candidate at this time, but the same power and influence working along the lines of destroying local self government in the counties and townships and centralizing all power at Springfield, is again seeking to control Republican affairs at Springfield, and in fact two months ago commenced a campaign against me and my record at Springfield, especially upon the dairy subject and upon other questions, so that I have yielded to the solicitation of the many friends that I have over the district, asking me to again be a candidate for the lower house.

In this campaign I shall try to set before every Republican voter and the dairymen of the Eighth Senatorial District the exact situation as to dairy legislation at Springfield; and also along the other lines that have been and now are insiduously working to destroy the power of local township, city and county governments in the State of Illinois and establish a great job-holders' trust at Springfield.

I submit in this sheet the question of public roads and whether the local townships are capable of self government in the management of their own roads, or whether that power should be exercised at Springfield.

EDWARD D. SHURTLEFF.

To the Republican Voters of Lake County

In submitting my name as candidate for the important office of State's Attorney, I pledge to the voters my most earnest and unremitting efforts to enforce the law to the best of my ability, with due regard for the rights and interests of all.

My life since childhood has been spent in Lake County and my interest in a just and reasonable execution of the law is precisely the same as that of every law abiding citizen. The law lays down the powers and duties of the office to which I aspire and defines same. If elected, I will assume those powers and duties with a full sense of the responsibility thereby placed on me.

There is no other promise which such an officer can, in my opinion, properly make, and perform if made.

Respectfully
ETHAMAN W. COLBY.

Republican Voters of Lake Co.

I desire to announce my candidacy for the office of State's Attorney subject to the will of the Republican voters as the same shall be expressed at the primaries April 9, 1912.

The duties of my office as Corporation Counsel of Waukegan will prevent me from personally visiting as many as I could wish.

Of course I shall visit as many of you as I can, but I have a strong notion somehow that the people of Lake County have passed beyond the buttonholing kind of politics. The States Attorney campaign of four years ago acquainted the people of the county with both my personality and principles.

The years I have lived here have afforded you ample opportunity to determine my qualifications in point of integrity and ability. If all of this has convinced you that I am a man with the disposition and ability to do my full duty as your State's Attorney fairly honestly and consistently, I shall be nominated. If it has not—why all the handshaking in the world will not suffice to make me a good second.

Yours,
ARTHUR BULKLEY

Announcement of Candidacy

I hereby announce my candidacy for County Surveyor subject to the primaries of the Republican party, April 9th, 1912. Your vote and support will be appreciated.

MORTIMER R. MILLER.

Announcement

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-election to the office of State's Attorney.

A favorite sport in New Zealand, as also in Australia and Tasmania, is competition in wood chopping and sawing; and in these contests, which attract a great deal of interest, the championships are always won through the use of American tools. In fact the expert woodman working for a prize would never think of using any other kind of tools.

THE PUBLIC HIGHWAYS TO BE CONTROLLED FROM SPRINGFIELD

The Highway Commissioners in the Townships Practically Abolished--Local Self-Government
in Townships Wiped Out

CLASS 1---(Roads)---"Roads connecting the principal points in the county following the most traveled route."---
Would mean the substantial amount of Township Taxes

DO YOU BELIEVE THE TOWNSHIPS ARE CAPABLE OF MANAGING AND CONTROLLING THEIR ROADS.

The following is what the State Administration and Senator Olson are willing to give in bartering away local self-government for a small amount of automobile money---
only a sufficient amount to pay salary of Superintendent of Roads; the County would have to pay his necessary transportation charges, including livery hire, express, telephone and telegraph charges, in addition to his necessary
traveling expenses in the county.

THE NEW ERA IN ROADS.

STATE ENGINEER DISCUSSES PLAN.

Chicago Daily News, Tuesday, February 27, 1911.

A. N. Johnson, state engineer of Illinois, and chairman of the association, discussed the road building.

"We are confronted by a double problem," he declared. "We are paying for the present and for the future as well. We have seen the advance in the last ten years, an advance due almost wholly to automobile and truck traffic--mostly for semi-pleasure jaunts--until now, however, from now on our problem is one of practical traffic. Road maintenance in states like New Jersey has increased ten times in cost in as many years.
Where the up-keep of the former type of road cost $75 to $80 a mile, at present the cost is $500 to $800 a mile.

"We can't plan for the present alone. We know traffic is increasing. A daily haul of six miles used to be the average. What is it now with automobiles and trucks? Why, sixty miles would be a moderate estimate. The wear and tear on the roads by pleasure cars will be nothing compared to that of heavy trucks when they are adopted more generally."

During the last four years, at every regular session and at two special sessions called for that purpose, the state administration has endeavored to pass a measure bonding the State of Illinois in the sum of twenty million dollars, to construct a deep water-way, so-called, and develop water power, and buy water power sites on the Illinois river, for which there would not be one dollar's worth of compensation, consideration or benefit to the people of the Eighth Senatorial District. The preparation of this bond issue, with the interest upon the bonds during the time of construction, would mean a bond issue upon--

Lake County of	$215,504.91
McHenry County of	$178,821.09
Boone County of	$ 87,894.73

SENATOR OLSON HAS VOTED FOR THESE BILLS. They have been state administration measures, and at each time have been defeated in the Lower House.

Next week I will have something to say upon the question of taxation and tax assessments.

EDWARD D. SHURTLEFF.

THE SCHOOL FOR COURTSHIP.

Courtship is an art so fine and subtle that the world has gone on for thousands of years with scarcely a thought of reducing it to anything like a definite science to be taught and learned by rule. The romancers, to be sure, have woven innumerable tales
from this Garden of Shy Love, and lately the realists have begun digging lustily among its roots and hidden tendrils; indeed, the typical novel of today is concerned far more with the physiology than with the sentiment of courtship. Matrimonial bureaus have been established, too, and perhaps in certain desperate cases they have justified their trade. It has been left,
however, to a high school in Los Angeles to lead the way by establishing a thoroughgoing department for the art of getting married--and staying married, says the Atlanta Journal.
The courses are proving immensely popular. There are five classes in which the girls are carefully tutored in matters of deportment during the various phases of wooing. They are also instructed in household management,
home dietetics, dressmaking, millinery
and the care of babies. It was originally planned that the boys of Los Angeles should be permitted to take these courses next year. There is now a prevailing opinion, however, that this will be altogether unnecessary, for when
the girls have mastered their subject
and have sharpened their instructive
skill with special knowledge, what
need, pray, will there be of any man
knowing anything at all about courtship? The fact is, the average damsel, though she should be reared, as Perdita was, upon a lonely trouserless
island, can come upon the carpet at 18
and win as many proposals as she sets
her head to. O, those wise women of the West? The Wise Men of the East were nothing to them.

It costs to haul a ton of matter one mile over the ordinary roads 25 cents.
It costs to haul the same load over
good roads 7 cents. Before the Erie canal was constructed, the freight on a bushel of wheat from Buffalo to New York was more than a dollar. The canal reduced it to 40 cents. The cost of transportation of a bushel of wheat
between the same points today is less than 3 cents. That one statement of facts contains within itself the answer to the wonderful progress of the United States and of the world during the last one hundred years. The cheapening of transportation has meant prosperity and it is not incorrect to say that the great goal toward which all business is striving today is still cheaper transportation charges. They have been reduced to almost a minimum for great distances. The immediate difficulty now is the heavy cost of transportation to and from the railroads. In other words, goods roads are the great necessity of the times. A good road saves 18 cents the ton the mile for all that is hauled over it. What heavier burden, then, can any section stag-ger under than bad roads?

A man who shot and killed his brother-
in-law while deer hunting is reported to have gone insane after the tragedy. Didn't he go insane before it?
Isn't "buck fever" a species of mental alienation which makes many of its victims temporarily unfit to be entrusted with guns?

Boston girl babies are taller than formerly and show more vitality. The boys remain the same. This is ominous. It apparently means that in the coming generation in Boston, at least,
the female of the species will be strong and boss the male.

We are told that the best way to obtain a change of air is to ride in an automobile, but think of the odoriferous
air the poor pedestrian is forced to breathe when the automobile has passed.

A cigarette manufacturer tells us
that there are two million women in the United States who smoke. All of which goes to show that the fair dames
have devious ways of burning up their husbands' salaries.

The New York County Lawyers' as-

What the Reikin Is.

A new stringed musical instrument
is reported to have been devised by a Japanese violinmaker in the city of Nagoya. The invention is named the reikin, and seems likely to supersede
the samisen. It has the shape of a guitar, save in the neck, that is the only part resembling a samisen. There are four strings to it, and by manipulation of the keys the instrument can be made to do the work of several samisen. The inventor has played his reikin in an orchestra of Japanese instruments and showed that it is a success in every way. He says that the idea came to him when he was touring through Europe last year.

Get Out of the Rut.

"The dull man is made, not by nature, but by the immersion in a single business, and all the more if that
be sedentary, uneventful, and ingloriously safe. More than half of him
will remain unexercised and undeveloped; the rest will be distended and deformed by over-nutrition, over-cerebration, and the heat of rooms."--Robert Louis Stevenson, in "The Wrecker."

A Terror.

"Some of these reformers," said Uncle
Rasberry, "makes me think of Rasatus
Pinkley's dog. I says to 'em, 'Rasatus', I says, 'is dat dog good fob rats?' An'
he says, 'No; he's mighty bad fob rats.' Does he ketch 'em an' kill 'em?
'No,' says 'Rasatus'; 'he don't ketch
'em, ner he don't kill 'em. But if dey
comes foolin' around him he'll mighty
near skeer 'em to death.'"

The Crooked Tree.

Childish impressions are as strong as, frequently, mistaken. A thoughtful child, hearing someone wonder why a certain tree in the garden was so crooked, replied, remembering the proverb about "As the twig is bent,
the tree is inclined": "I suppose somebody must have stepped on it when it was little."

Problem of Universal Peace.

War sweeps away not only some of the bravest and best of a nation, it also disposes of the offscouring of the

ceases, a pressing problem will be
how to prevent the accumulation of
the dangerous classes no longer left on the battlefield.--Christian Register

FOOD VALUE OF CHESTNUTS

Are Rich in Starch and Fat, Better Than Potatoes and Almost as Good as Bread.

In France much attention is given
to the propagating of the chestnut,
and the fruit is spoken of with enthusiasm and respect. In French literature, especially in stories for children,
the chestnut tree is quite as important a feature as the plum tree in the politics of this country, where we speak lightly of the chestnut and then pay at the rate of $5 a bushel
for them. The small French chestnut is called the "chataigne," but the large or giant chestnut is the "marron." The marron is cultivated extensively in France and Italy, where it is used in large quantities.

"Every soda fountain menu," says
the New York Soda Fountain, a trade
journal, "has some reference to marrons, and marrons glace are a favorite after-dinner morsel at all the large hotels, yet few persons realize that
while primarily a dessert delicacy,
marrons are an exceedingly wholesome and valuable food. It is not generally known that the fruit of the chestnut tree is nearly as valuable
as bread and more valuable than potatoes as a food, being rich in starch
and fat."

In some districts of Pennsylvania
much attention is now given to the planting of chestnut trees. There are several hill counties in Indiana, like Brown, Monroe and Morgan, where the marron and the smaller sized chestnuts could be made a source of profit.

SECRETIVE MEN OF ACTION

World's Most Able Soldiers and Statesmen Averse to Sharing Thoughts
With Others.

Washington's reserve made him stiff,
formal and ill at ease in company, but it also prevented his plans from being betrayed to the enemy and the country from being deceived by his promises.

William the Silent was frugal of words, because a reserve that concealed his designs, even from those acting with him, was necessary to the independence of the Netherlands.

The most dramatic of silent men
was Wallenstein, the antagonist of Gustavus Adolphus and the commander of the emperor's armies in the Thirty Years' War. He insisted that the deepest silence should reign around him. His officers took care that no loud conversation should disturb their general. They knew a chamberlain had been hanged for waking him without orders and an officer who would wear clanking spurs in the commander's presence had been secretly put to death. In the rooms of Wallenstein's palace the servants glided as if phantoms and a dozen sentinels moved around his tent charged to secure the silence the general demanded. Chains were stretched across the streets and roads
in order to guard him against the disturbance of sounds. Wallenstein's taciturnity and love of silence that caused
him to be irritated at the slightest noise were due to his constitutional temperament. He never smiled, he never asked advice from anyone, and he could not endure to be gazed at,
even when giving an order. The soldiers when he crossed the camp pretended not to see him, knowing that a serious look would bring them punishment.

PREDECESSORS OF CAPT. LUX

Colonel Sausser, General Zurlinden
and Others Have Escaped From Prisons in Germany.

About a dozen precedents for the escape of Captain Lux from his German prison can be found in the history of the Franco-German war, and a large proportion of the heroes of them lived to become famous.

A notable case was that of General (then colonel) Sausser, ultimately commander-in-chief of the French
army, who was detained at Grandens,
in the extreme east of Prussia. It is said that he put his bolster to bed instead of himself, hid in an obscure
corner of the fortress until nightfall,
and then, having obtained a disguise by the help of his orderly, was allowed to walk out of the main
prison gate.

He crossed the frontier to Poland
and returned to France by way of Austria and Italy.

General Zurlinden was another prisoner who got out of his prison at Glogau in Silesia, on Christmas eve.
He made his way in disguise through Berlin, Frankfurt and Karlsruhe to Basel, a feat which was not difficult for him, as, being an Alsatian, he spoke German quite as well as his jailers.

Thirdly, we may note the experiences of M. Paul Deroulede, who escaped from Breslau, and it is piquant
to recall that that vehement anti-Semite did not disdain to disguise himself as a Polish Jew. He was very nearly betrayed by a peasant whom he had bribed to guide him into Bohemia; but he drew his knife with a ferocious gesture and the peasant
changed his mind, with the result that M. Deroulede saw the final fights
of the war as a sub-lieutenant of Tur-cos.

"I didn't think it was so terrible.
I'm sure. Everybody has accidents of

"Now it's all right, of course, I don't mind it, my dear, but next time just sprinkle some salt on the stove at once after the milk is spilled and you will avoid that unpleasant odor."

MORALITY OF THE ELEPHANT

He Makes a Cat's Paw of Boy's Hand
to Steal the Unhusked Rice.

Singular as it may seem, elephants
which have associated with men entertain the notion that, under special circumstances, they are not responsible if they utilize another to commit an illegal act. The following is an instance of this elephantine morality:

A man in Rangoon bought three young elephants to send to England.
They were tame and playful, but cunning. Knowing that it was wrong to steal paddy (unhusked rice)—the idea
had doubtless been impressed upon them by punishment for stealing—
they would not touch it themselves.
But if a boy went to see them, he would be seized by one, the little
trunk would be coiled around his arm,
and he would be led to where the
paddy was kept in bags.

The elephant would make a cat's paw of the boy's hand to take up a handful of paddy. Then, letting go,
he would turn up the end of his trunk,
open it, and coaxingly invite the boy
to drop in the paddy.

Should the boy, however, put it back in the bag, his arm would again
be seized by the trunk, and his hand
would be again inserted into the paddy
bag.

The boy, anxious to be released,
would usually drop the paddy into the
trunk, and the elephant would blow
the rice into his mouth. After repeating the operation several times,
the elephant would scamper off, feeling that he had got the paddy without stealing it.—Harper's Weekly.

JOHN E. REARDON

Candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court

Who is Looked Upon as a Winner TO THE VOTERS OF LAKE COUNTY

As heretofore announced, I am a candidate for nomination for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court
at the Republican primaries to be held in Lake County on April 9th next. My employment is such that I am unable to get out among you as much as I would wish,
but so many have promised me their support that I am led to believe more and more that I will be successful. I do not make this statement as an idle boast. I honestly believe it, as do all my friends who are familiar with conditions as they now exist.

As to my fitness for the office I seek, I refer,
without permission, to every member of the Lake County bar, and the Judges of the Courts, with whom I have the honor to be personally acquainted.

Is it not public opinion that a public office should be passed along, and not devoted to one person alone?
From my canvas throughout Lake County, I am satisfied that it is, for the reason that a large number of the men who are interested in my candidacy, are those who have been life-long friends of my opponent, who have said to him in so many words, that they did not feel he should ask for their support again, they
having been with him heretofore each time he sought
public office, dating back to his unsuccessful candidacy for the office of County Superintendent of Schools
twenty-four (24) years ago. I had hoped Mr. Brockway would not be a candidate for a fourth term, as he had so widely promised he would not; but he is, and I willingly accord him that right.

Can I do more than refer you especially to the members of the Lake County Bar, and the Judges of the courts, as to my qualifications for the office I seek? Are not those the men who are best qualified to judge my qualifications?

I shall continue to conduct my campaign in a clean, upright manner. It will be up to you to decide, and while I feel confident of my success whether I attain my ambition or not, I shall ever be most grateful for the many kind words spoken to, and of me, and shall point with, I hope, a pardonable
pride, to the splendid array of friends who so generally made, and are now making my cause their own,
without promise of reward or hope of compensation.

Sincerely Yours,

JOHN E. REARDON.

MUST AVOID MEXICO

PRESIDENT WARNS AMERICANS TO KEEP NEUTRAL IN MEXICAN TERRITORY.

SITUATION IS VERY GRAVE

Advices Citizens Not to Enter Country and Tells Those There to Withdraw—Envoys Instructed to Take People From Danger Zone.

Washington, D. C. — President has issued a note of warning, in the shape of a proclamation, to American citizens to refrain from entering Mexico and those resident there to leave when conditions threaten to become intolerable. The gravity of the situation in Mexico caused the move. The decision to issue such a warning was reached at a special cabinet meeting.

The proclamation was augmented by a telegram addressed by the state department to Ambassador Wilson in the City of Mexico. The ambassador was instructed to inform Americans in peril there to withdraw across the border, leaving their effects in the care of the nearest United States consul. Copies of the telegram were sent also to all consular agents.

The proclamation, which is seen as an expression of this country's intention to avoid by every possible means any chance of intervention, tells of the disturbance in Mexico and points to the laws of neutrality. It then continues:

"I, William Howard Taft, president of the United States of America, do hereby admonish all citizens to abstain from every violation of the laws heretofore referred to, and do hereby warn them that all violations of such laws will be rigorously prosecuted; and I hereby enjoin upon all officers of the United States charged with the execution of such laws the utmost diligence in preventing violations thereof and in bringing to trial and punishment any offenders against the same; and finally I hereby give notice that all persons owing allegiance to the United States who may take part in the disturbances now existing in Mexico, unless in the necessary defense of their persons or property, or who shall otherwise engage in acts subversive of the tranquility of that country, will do so at their peril and that they can in no wise obtain any protection from the government of the United States against the appropriate legal consequences of their acts, insofar as such consequences are in accord with equitable justice and humanity and the enlightened principles of international law."

35 DIE IN CHIHUAHUA FIGHT

Orozco and Command Driven Out of Mexico City by 700 Loyal Troops Under Villa.

El Paso, Tex., March 4.—Forty-five men were killed in battle at Chihuahua, capital of the same name. Pancho Villa attacked the town with 700 men after demanding its surrender from Pascual Orozco, the commander. Orozco and his men were driven out and his appeal to the rebels in Juarez for reinforcements leads to conclusion that Orozco has joined the rebels and that Villa has remained loyal, and that, knowing that Orozco was ready to turn against the government, Villa decided to take the town, entrench himself, and prepare to resist the invaders from Juarez rather than let Orozco remain in charge in Chihuahua and turn over the town to the rebels when they arrived.

DIX REFUSES BRANDT PARDON

Governor Declares He Has No Regret for Action and Offers No Excuses.

Albany, N. Y.—Governor Dix will refuse to pardon Foulke E. Brandt until it is proved that the former valet of Mortimer L. Schiff did not commit the crime which he confessed and for which he was sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment.

The governor in a statement issued last night said his "farewell word" in the case, unless the higher courts set aside the writ of habeas corpus by which Brandt won his release. He declares he has no regret for his action and offers no excuses. Moral as well as legal considerations, he says, influenced him.

Illinois Trains Are "Dry"

Chicago.—Passenger trains on eleven railroads in the state of Illinois will be "dry" territory from now on, according to a ukase from the general offices of the roads which went into effect last week.

The Monon, Wabash, Rock Island, Illinois Central, Chicago & Alton, Chicago Great Western, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Chicago & North Western, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and the Atchafalaya, Toledo & Santa Fe are the roads which will not allow the sale of liquor on their coaches from now on.

STEEL TRUST IS HIT

SAYS COMBINE OPERATES IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE.

Accountant Shows Morgan & Co. Received Cash Profit of $69,300,000 for Organizing Firm.

Washington.—The United States Steel corporation operates in restraint of trade, and J. Pierpont Morgan received $70,000,000 for organizing the trust, according to F. J. McTear, expert accountant, who made a report on the inquiry into the books and minutes of the trust. His report reaches the conclusion that the corporation prevents competition through a manipulation of prices, through the influence of the so-called "Gary dinners," by control of raw materials and through a system of interlocking directors in various companies.

Some of the charges made in the report are: That J. P. Morgan & Co., heading the syndicate which organized the Steel corporation, received a cash profit of $69,300,000, of which $62,500,000 was for promotion, and $6,800,000 for a bond conversion scheme. That the net earnings for nine years were $1,029,685,380, or an equivalent of approximately $13 a ton on finished product, instead of $980,000,311 as claimed by the corporation in its report.

That the statement made by Judge Gary and H. C. Frick to President Roosevelt in 1907 that the Steel corporation did not control more than 60 per cent. of steel properties in the country was wrong; that it controls on the contrary about 80 per cent. of the steel holdings.

PACKERS LOSE BIG POINT

Judge Admits Records of National Company's Meetings as Competent Evidence Against Defendants.

Chicago.—Federal Judge George A. Carpenter placed a weapon in the hands of the government when he decided that records of meetings of the directors of the National Packing company were competent evidence against the meat packers. Earlier in the trial the court ruled that these records were admissible only in so far as acts of the corporation were concerned.

Ferdinand Sulzberger said he knew all the defendants. From 1898 to May, 1902, he said he attended meetings of the packers where margins and shipments were agreed upon. Arthur Meeker and Jerome H. Pratt attended for Armour & Co.; G. E. Swift, now dead; Francis A. Fowler, Charles Swift and George Hartwell for Swift & Co., and L. H. Heyman for Morris & Co.

THRILLING LEAP BY AVIATOR

Jumps From Aeroplane and Descends 1,500 Feet to Earth Amidst Cheers of Hundreds.

St. Louis.—For the first time in the history of heavier than air flying, a man leaped from an aeroplane 1,500 feet in the air at Jefferson Barracks and descended to the earth in a parachute.

The man was Capt. Albert Berry, son of Capt. John Berry, winner of the national balloon race from Indianapolis. The spectacular parachute leap was witnessed by hundreds of soldiers. When the aeronaut landed the soldiers cheered wildly and, surrounding the man, lifted him from the ground and half carried him to the office of Colonel Wood, the commanding officer, who congratulated him warmly.

FRANKLIN IS FINED $4,000

McNamara Detective Severely Scored by Los Angeles Judge While Passing Sentence.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Bert H. Franklin, former chief detective of the McNamara defense, who confessed last week to using money for the purpose of corrupting jurors in the celebrated case, was fined $4,000 and given a severe castigation by Judge George Cabaniss here.

In passing sentence, Judge Cabaniss told Franklin he was sorry he could not give him a state prison sentence, as the act of corrupting jurors was nothing short of damnable. However, he must be governed by recommendations from the district attorney and therefore would impose a fine of $4,000.

Snead Jury Is Dismissed.

Fort Worth, Tex.—The jury which has been trying to decide the fate of John Beal Snead, the millionaire Amarillo banker, who killed Capt. A. C. Boyce here January 13, was discharged by Judge Swayne. The twelve men had the case four days, and the announced they stood seven to five for acquittal on the first ballot to the last.

Judge Swayne severely denounced the men for failure to reach a verdict.

SHOPPING CENTER OF PEKIN

It Was in This District That the Greatest Damage Was Done by the Looting Soldiers.

PEKING IS IN PERIL

CHINA A SMOLDERING VOLCANO; ANTI-FOREIGN FEELING IS GROWING.

GERMAN DOCTOR IS KILLED

American Soldiers Arrive at Capital and Five Thousand Japanese Troops Are Ordered to Tientsin.

Peking.—The whole northern army of China is a magazine which may explode at any moment. Within striking distance of the capital there are scores of well equipped regiments who have been excited by the ease with which a few battalions of mutineers have been able to sack the richest part of the city. They are ready to emulate the rioters at any time.

Tientsin.—There are indications that the trouble here becoming anti-foreign. Shooting and burning have commenced again in the native city.

The local Chinese authorities confessed their inability to cope with any further trouble. They appealed to the consuls of the foreign powers.

These officials met and decided, without dissent, that the question was not a political one and could be met by the men in command of the foreign military forces here. This was done. As effective patrols as possible will be maintained.

The rioting began when the soldiers mutinied, set fire to a number of buildings and then began looting from house and house. They were joined by the rabble. Shops and banks in all the important streets were looted and some of them were wrecked.

In order to intimidate the populace the soldiers kept up a continual gun fire. Only a few police remained loyal, and they were outnumbered and powerless to suppress the disorders.

No less than fourteen fires were raging simultaneously in various parts of the city. The soldiers broke into the Pel Yang mint, which was set on fire.

The German consul dispatched a guard to protect German residents in the city, composed chiefly of the engineering staff of the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

A German doctor named Schreeter, who entered the city to assist German friends, was shot dead by looting soldiers.

British troops are guarding the railroad which runs from this city to Peking. At Fengtai 1,500 Chinese troops were drawn up in position to block traffic. They dispersed when confronted by 700 British troops, who were ready for immediate action.

Last Maine Relic Donated.

Washington.—The last scrap of the old battleship Maine which could be used as a relic has been given away. All the pieces which have been allotted to patriotic societies and other organizations have arrived at the Washington navy yard. The fortunate ones can have them by paying the cost of transportation and packing.

Strikers Refuse Advance.

Lawrence, Mass.—The executive committee of the Industrial Workers of the World voted to recommend that the strikers refuse an advance of five per cent. Many of the mills posted notices of an advance in wages of at least five per cent. beginning next Monday. The advance will affect nearly thirty thousand operatives.

Rebels Threaten Matamoros.

Brownsville, Tex.—Rebels were reported approaching Matamoros, the Mexican town opposite here.

SUFFRAGETTES JAILED

MRS. PANKHURST AND TWO OTHERS GIVEN 60 DAYS.

London Prosecutor, Citing Estimates of Damage Done, Declares Time of Clemency Has Ended.

London.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, Mrs. Turkes and Mrs. Marshall, the three leaders of the window-smashing campaign by which the suffragettes last month succeeded in terrorizing the London tradesmen, were sentenced each to two months' imprisonment.

On the delivery of the sentence Mrs. Pankhurst declared she intended to go farther when she came out of prison, and that the suffragettes were prepared to go to the fullest limit. About 30 cases were disposed of, but most of the 124 women arrested were committed for trial at the London sessions, as the damage committed by each exceeded $25.

The attorney for the prosecution announced to the court that the total damage done by the suffragettes in their stone-throwing manifestations was estimated at $25,000. Consideration hitherto shown them could no longer be allowed, he said. The benches were occupied by sympathizers with the storekeepers, whose premises had suffered damage. The sentences of the three leaders were received with applause.

Government recognition of the demands of the 750,000 coal miners and the rebuffs of the women precipitated the attack.

The police were taken unaware, and before they were able to muster their forces and restrain the women streets were covered with shattered plate glass from the show windows of stores.

It was a window-breaking expedition solely, and a thoroughly organized one.

WILL FIGHT WHITE SLAVERY

Many Noted Men as Officers in American Vigilance Association to Use Millions Against Vice.

Washington.—Organized with the greatest secrecy and backed by unlimited capital, the biggest campaign ever undertaken against white slavery is about to be launched by the business interests of the United States, working in co-operation with the department of justice.

Within the past few weeks bankers, merchants, philanthropists, educators and other leaders of national reputation have met in New York and Chicago and completed a merger of all the principal organizations fighting the white slave traffic into the American Vigilance association.

The officers of the association, are: President David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford university; vice presidents, Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, Very Rev. Dean Sumner of Chicago and Charles W. Eliot, former president of Harvard university; treasurer, Charles L. Hutchinson, president of the Corn Exchange National bank of Chicago; executive secretary and general counsel, Clifford G. Roe of Chicago; chairman executive committee, Clifford Barnes, capitalist, of Chicago.

COLD COMFORT FOR MOTHER

Comment of Boston Belle on Young Man's Conduct Was Icy in the Extreme.

General F. D. Grant, at a Washington birthday dinner in New York some years ago, told a story about a young Boston Tory.

"This Tory," he said, "fought during the Revolution neither on one side nor on the other. He took a pleasure trip on the Continent, and he didn't come back home again until the war was over."

"He was treated very coldly by society on his return, and this grieved his good old mother to the heart."

"The dear old lady tried to explain the matter one afternoon to a Boston belle."

"Naturally, as the head of the family," she said, "my son could not take part in the war. To him fell the duty, perhaps the more arduous duty, of protecting his mother and sisters and looking after the interests of the estate."

"O, madam," said the belle, with an icy smile, "you need not explain. I assure you, I'd have done exactly as your son did—I'm such a coward!"

COMMON FORM OF CRUELTY.

Bessie—Yes, he claimed his wife pinched him severely whenever she asked him for money.

Bert—Well, he needn't flatter himself that he is the only man who has been pinched for money.

HANDS WOULD CRACK OPEN

"About two months ago my hands started to crack open and bleed, the skin would scale off, and the good flesh would burn and itch dreadfully. When my hands first started to get sore, there were small blisters like water blisters which formed. They itched dreadfully, it just seemed as though I could tear the skin all off. I would scratch them and the skin would peel off, and the flesh would be all red and crack open and bleed. It worried me very much, as I had never had anything the matter with my skin. I was so afraid I would have to give up my employment."

"My doctor said he didn't think it would amount to anything. But it kept getting worse. One day I saw a place in one of the papers about a lady who had the same trouble with her hands. She had used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and was cured. I decided to try them, and my hands were all healed before I had used one cake of Cuticura Ointment. I am truly thankful for the good results from the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, for thanks to them I was cured, and did not have to lose a day from work. I have had no return of the skin trouble." (Signed) Mrs. Mary E. Brels, 2622 Brown Street, Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 12, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.

How Mrs. Cline Avoided Operation.

Brownsville, Ind.—"I can say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else. One doctor said I must be operated upon for a serious female trouble and that nothing could help me but an operation."

"I had hemorrhages and at times could not get any medicine to stop them. I got in such a weak condition that I would have died if I had not got relief soon."

"Several women who had taken your Compound, told me to try it and I did and found it to be the right medicine to build up the system and overcome female troubles."

"I am now in great deal better health than I ever expected to be, so I think I ought to thank you for it."—Mrs. O. M. CLINE, S. Main St., Brownsville, Ind.

Naggitt—It was a good thing for you that you weren't his wife. Nagitt—Why so? Nagitt—You would never have known that whole story as an excuse for staying away from home for three days and nights.

Didn't surprise Mrs. Flynn. Mrs. Flynn, while returning from work, took refuge under a tree during a thunder storm. The tree was struck by lightning and Dennis was blown twenty feet away by the concussion and badly stunned. A neighbor came and began the work of resuscitation; another hurried to the house of Dennis to inform Mrs. Flynn of the accident. Mrs. Flynn listened to the neighbor's account of the accident with mingled terror and joy, and when told that her husband was not hurt and would soon be home, her pleasure was gratifying to behold. "Dennis was twenty feet away, didn't he say?" "About that, yes," "Oh, my Dennis always was quick on his feet," said Mrs. Flynn, with a proud shake of her head.

700 AT MANILA PLACED AT ORDER OF MINISTER CALHOUN IN PEKING.

500 ARE KILLED IN RIOTS

Mutineers, Aided by Foreign Soldiers, Listen to Yuan's Son's Plea for Peace—Tientsin Quietly by Foreigners.

Washington.—The state and war departments arranged for two battalions more of the United States troops to be available for protecting American and other foreign interests in Peking and Tientsin. United States Minister Calhoun in Peking has been notified that he may have 700 additional troops by telegraphing to Manila, where the commandant has been ordered to hold the men at the disposal of the diplomat.

Minister Calhoun has been instructed to confer with the representatives of the other governments at Peking, and if the general opinion is to the effect that the extra troops are needed, he is at liberty to telegraph his order for them to Manila.

Peking.—The son of President Yuan Shi Kai made an impassioned plea to his father's soldiers, begging them not to cause the ruin of the republic.

The men wept and said they feared that Yuan's going south would cause their dishonor and starvation. They declared that the disorder was meant as a protest against their chief's going away and that they would remain faithful hereafter.

Yuan Shi Kai's official statement, issued here, places the number killed during the mutiny here at 500. The property loss will amount to more than $14,000,000.

Peking is quieter. The parade of the international troops through the main streets of the city causes a difference of opinion among leading foreigners here. Some think it may lead to anti-foreign demonstrations in the interior owing to the possible spread of false rumors that Peking has been taken by foreigners. Others think that a show of force was necessary and that it will check any attempt on the legations.

Tientsin, March 5.—Quiet prevailed in all parts of the city. The measures taken by the foreign consuls and commanders of the troops of various nations evidently have intimidated the rioting element and the mutinous soldiery.

St. Petersburg.—Fighting between the Chinese regular army and an expeditionary corps has occurred at Tsisikhar, in Manchuria, according to advices received here.

COWBOYS BATTLE MEXICANS

Rebels Said to Have Attempted to Commandeer Horses at English-American Ranch.

El Paso, Tex.—Col. E. Z. Steever dispatched Lieutenant Hill of the Twenty-second Infantry and a squad of soldiers to Columbus, N. M., to investigate a report that American cowboys and Mexican rebels clashed at Rancho La Palmas, 30 miles from Columbus, on the Mexican side. According to the report, which was transmitted to Colonel Steever, the horses of the Americans were killed and they retreated on foot to Columbus, after killing or wounding several of the Mexicans.

Cattlemen who passed through Columbus on the way to the cattlemen's convention here say that Rancho La Palmas is owned by Americans and Englishmen, and that the Americans in the reported fight were employed on the ranch.

According to this source of information the Americans resisted when the Mexicans tried to commandeer horses from the ranch.

TRIES TO KILL ROTHSCHILD

Assassin Shoots at London Financier as He is Entering Motor Car—Wounded Detective.

London.—An attempt to shoot Leopold Rothschild was made by a man here as Mr. Rothschild was entering a motor car in front of the bank in St. Swithin's lane in the city of London. Mr. Rothschild was not hit by the bullet. The man apparently had been lying in wait for him. As soon as he saw the banker he drew a revolver and fired three times. A detective standing on the opposite side of the lane was struck in the mouth, neck and chest, and the windows of the automobile were smashed. The assassin was arrested.

Leopold Rothschild is the third son of Baron Lionel Rothschild and was born in 1845. He is a deputy lieutenant, justice of the peace and a commander of the Royal Victorian order. He married Marie Perugia of Trieste in 1881. He has three sons. He has residences in Hamilton place, London, and at Newmarket and Acton.

IS THE PAIN THERE?

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

Then Your Kidneys May Be Weak and in Need of Quick Attention

Backache is enough cause to suspect the kidneys. The kidneys are in the small of the back. Congested kidneys swell and throb. The back naturally aches. It hurts to bend or stoop or to sit down.

Kidney trouble may come on all unnoticed. A cold, a chill, a fever, a strain or irregular habits may start it. While sick kidneys can be cured in the beginning, it is a serious matter when dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease sets in.

Doan's Kidney Pills have made a reputation in the cure of backache, and kidney and bladder ills. The best proof is the testimony of the users. Here are two typical testimonials. Thirty thousand others are being published in the newspapers. A postage stamp will bring you reports of cases nearer home.

If you suspect your kidneys, get the best-recommended kidney remedy.

"My own doctor gave me up. I then called in a specialist who said I was beyond recovery. I had lost over 20 pounds and was but a shadow of my former self. I used one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and soon felt better. Continuing I was cured and have not had the slightest trouble since."

Right to Keep Pigs in London.
The freedom of the city of London carries with it, nominally, at any rate, the right to keep pigs in the parish of St. James, Piccadilly. But even were any one disposed to avail himself of this liberty, and if the sanitary authorities failed to object, land in that part of London is somewhat too costly for profitable pig farming.

Love of Jewelry.

Reading that a red chequer homing pigeon, wearing a blue enamel ring marked 1911 L.8945, had been found at Ewell, Surrey, an old lady remarked, says London Punch, that it was terrible how the love of jewelry appeared to be spreading among all classes.

QUEEREST PRISON IN WORLD

Arizona County Jail is Blasted Out of a Mountain of Solid Quartz Rock.

When the authorities of Graham county, Arizona, decided to look about for a place in which to confine criminals, they found a natural depression in the side of a hill. This was enlarged into what might be called an artificial cave, divided into four compartments. The cave was excavated parallel to the side of the mountain in which it was made, and daylight admitted by holes blown out of the wall with explosives, the windows being guarded by a network of heavy steel bars. The entrance to the depression was also closed in the same manner, and a vestibule or porch of masonry built out from it to provide quarters for the sheriff and his assistants. This vestibule is also divided into compartments, which are connected by gates of steel bars. The only way of entering the prison is through the vestibule of masonry, and in order to escape the inmates would have to cut their way through three sets of bars which are an inch in thickness, as the windows are so high up above the rock forming the floor of the cells that they could not reach them. It is necessary, however, to have a very secure place, as the criminals in this part of the country are of a most desperate class, and the inmates frequently include murderers and highwaymen. The mountain which has thus been turned into a prison is composed of solid quartz rock, and the excavation was made principally by the use of explosives. The jail is located in the town of Clifton, the county seat.—Wide World Magazine.

Seven Pounds of Toothache.

A keeper, who was attracted the other day by trumpeting and loud roars from the elephant cage in a menagerie at Woodbridge, England, found one of the elephants in an agony of toothache. He was unable to relieve it, and later heard a thud on the floor. It was found that the elephant had cast a tooth weighing, it is stated, about seven pounds.

Woman's Mistake.

A woman sent to the consignment fund $3.70 she believes she owes for duty on 37 yards of Irish lace bought from an Italian peddler, who declared he had smuggled it and, therefore, was able to sell it to her at 20 cents a yard. Conscience is a strange thing. The poor woman, if she only knew it, owes herself money.—New York Evening Telegram.

"Te Deum" a Hymn of the Ages.

Hallowed by old association and fraught with many memories are the great church hymns like the "Te Deum," which for more than a thousand years has been the song of Christendom. It was chanted at the baptism of Clovis and sung at the jubilee of Queen Victoria. It was sung also after Agincourt and Waterloo, and on all solemn occasions when the heart of the people had been moved to thanksgiving for victory on land or sea.

Minor Detail.

Reporter—"I have a good description of the dresses, presents and your appearance. Now, what shall I say about the bridegroom?" Bride—"Oh, I suppose he must be mentioned! Just say he was among those present!"

Humankind's Perversity.

What is remote and difficult of success we are apt to overrate; what is really best for us lies always within our reach, though often overlooked.—Longfellow.

Unequally Divided.

LIFE INSURANCE

The only thing the public gets at cost
Any other business can better afford to wait

The life insurance business has been much more generally distributed among the companies during the last six years. The change was caused by the activity of the medium sized companies. These facts effectually dispose of the fear that the life insurance business would eventually drift into control of a few companies. The ratio of the total business held by a few large companies fell from 53.25 per cent in 1890 to 48.76 per cent in 1900 and to 46.28 per cent in 1905. From then on the decline of their proportion was rapid, till in 1910 it was 36.67.

Old Line Legal Reserve Argument is Incontrovertible

Remember, this is the regular old line legal reserve life insurance which has never gone wrong, never failed to pay death claims when they are due, because such companies are required to deposit their total capital stock with the insurance department in sound interest bearing securities, such as bonds or form mortgages, and then are supervised by the State Insurance Departments of the various States in which they transact business. All other forms of insurance, fraternal orders, assessments, etc., eventually operate at a loss and then go down to disaster, leaving a number of elderly members entirely without insurance protection, after having paid money into the scheme for years, and are left unable on account of age and infirmity to obtain other insurance.

The Old Michigan Mutual Life

has a number of Policy Contracts to offer the insuring public, policies to suit all. One form is called The Twenty Payment Life Option which is the most complete Policy ever offered for sale. Full twenty payments guaranteed returned in cash at end of twenty years. A plain simple contract. Guarantees everything. Estimates nothing. Why then speculate in improbable futures? Why pay for a dividend that cannot be guaranteed and is doubtful, which has in the past caused more dissatisfaction than through all other sources combined.
